ANNUAL SPRING SALE

NOW GOING ON

We hold three Sales during the year which are of more general importance than others. This Sale is one of them.

THE Sale this year is even more important than usual, because, in spite of the growing difficulty in securing desirable merchandise and the steady rise in prices, we have been able to make some really extraordinary purchases at substantial concessions in price, of just the goods our customers have learned to expect in this Spring Sale.

This Sale is, in fact, 37 different sales in one, including the following goods from more than 80 importers or manufacturers:

Spring Suits, Coats, Gowns, Blouses (all of these for both women, small women and misses), Girls' Dresses, Infants' and Children's Wear, Corsets, Domestic and French Underwear, Italian Silk Woven Underwear, Cotton Union Suits, Silk Petticoats and Negligee Wear, Silk Sweaters, Hosiery, Gloves, Laces, Dress Goods, Cotton Dress Goods, Silks, White Goods, Neckwear, Household Linens, Bed Spreads, Sheets and Pillow Cases, Blankets, Handkerchiefs, Curtains, Drapery and Upholstery Fabrics, China and Glass, Innovation Wardrobe Trunks, Hand Bags, Parasols, Stationery and Millinery.

If you have not a charge account with us, it is well worth your while to make yourself known to our Credit Department.

PAUL REVERE BELL SPEAKS AGAIN

Cast Just a Century Ago, King's Chapel Bell Was Rung Every Day at Noon During Lent.

R. NEWTON KINGMAN, THE BELL, MEMBERS OF THE CHOIR, INTERESTED SPECTATORS

THE TOWER OF KING'S CHAPEL

After 10 years of silence the Paul Revere bell in the tower of Kings Chapel has again been pealing the call to worship out of its historical old metal throat.

Every Lent its tones, familiar to old Bostonians, have been heard every day at noon, inviting the busy passerby to the noonday service. On holidays the bell will be rung morning, noon and night, a custom long ago made by the city for holiday ringing.

Expert ringers from the Boston Guild of Change Ringers alternated to stage the bell.

The reason for the long silence of the bell was the cracked condition of the metal, which necessitated its being recast. This delicate operation Edward F. Gilbert, a member of the Boston Guild of Change Ringers, which cast the predecessor of this bell in 1822, has recently completed to perfection.

This bell, cast in 1816 by Paul Revere at his foundry at Canton, weighs 1697 pounds. It is the second bell to be installed, bell cast at the Revere foundry.

The tone is E flat, with minor overtones, and it is celebrated for its beautiful harmonic effects which enable it to be identified even when heard from afar.

It replaced an English bell hung in 1772, which was lost while being tolled for morning on May 1.

A contract was entered into with Paul Revere & Co. to cast a bell of the same size and allow it to retain a portion of the metal. He was to mold the new bell in all respects like the original, and, if possible, to better the tone of the old bell.

The first mention of the bell was in the records of 1773, when it was ordered from England.

Do you care what the editors of the

think of you? The Companion editors say:

"The woman makes the home.

"It is our hope to help each individual woman make her own special home a happier, more comfortable, and more prosperous place for her family to live in.

"We take pride in helping our friends—the readers of the Companion—to solve their dress problems, cook their food in the most appetizing and economical way, bring up their children, and keep in touch with the best thought and literature of the day.

"We appreciate the finer things of life, the spiritual rather than the material.

"And so we try to stimulate and inspire our friends, without feeling that we are in any position to preach."

That is what the Companion editors think of you.

What do you think of them?

There are many spectacular features of interest and merit in the Companion, but you will get the most out of it if you like the personality of the magazine—the kind of magazine it is—and the spirit back of it. It is quite different.

ON PROBATION, BUT MUST LEAVE STATE

Washington B. Norris of Sound Mind

Store Detective Found Guilty of Stealing in Another Store

Washington B. Norris of Everett, who was before Judge David Sarasohn, when his wife pleaded for him, and his 9-year-old daughter sat in court with him, became in court today for disposition. Saturday he was found guilty, the judge having taken the case under advisement to ascertain whether he was mentally responsible. Norris was a clerk in the Jordan Marsh Co. store, and was charged in only three pairs of gloves from another store last Friday. Today Judge Sarasohn said that he was sure Norris was of sound mind, but that his health was very poor.

Mrs. Norris pleaded to be did a very good thing to send as he did, that he was a doctrine whose duty was to protect the public, and that he had accomplished it. He was given a six months' suspended sentence, and because of his poor health was placed on probation for six months according to attorney Clerk of the department stores. Norris must leave the state. He is going out West in a few days.

Alice Sullivan of Antrim st, East Boston, was also before Judge Sarasohn on charge of shoplifting. While the case was awaiting trial there was quite a bit of excitement in court when the mother of Miss Miriam Mcdaniel of Park st, Charlestown, came to court and declared that the girl was not the one who took the dress. The latter case was continued until Thursday. The three cases were continued.

Mrs Mabel L. Sanborn, 6, of 20 Webster st, South End, who was arrested by Detective Sergeant Dolan, was arraigned before Chief Justice Dineen today in the Municipal Criminal Court, charged with larceny. She pleaded guilty through her attorney, Edward Troop, admitted a feeling of guilty, and was placed on probation for one year.

Attorney Clarke of the department stores informed the court that the defendant had taken goods from these two other women store from stores, and that they said none of the articles. The goods were found in her home, and the names of the two women, but she refused.

TWO KILLED, ONE DYING

Fatal Accidents in New York Caused by Autos Crashing into the Rear End of Motor Trucks

NEW YORK, April 24—Two men were killed and one is dying as the result of automobile accidents early today. Both fatalities occurred when motor trucks in the same machines crashed into the rear end of motor trucks.

Patrick Ryan, a teamster, while driving rapidly on 5th av and 42d st was run into by a truck driven by Ralph Smith. The truck was driven by Harold Hagaman. There was a crash and Hagaman was killed instantly. Ryan was rushed to Bellevue, where it was announced he had died, succumbing a fracture of the skull, which probably came in the crash.

Driving a two seated runabout, Alfred H. Hitchcock, 45 years old, of 1 Fifth av, and Albert Clark, a waiter at 12 West 16th st, who was sitting on the running board, was thrown to the pavement when the car crashed into the rear of a motor truck driven by Charles Hansen at a reckless speed. Both died of injuries.

WHAT YOUR NERVES NEED

Whatever medication, whatever renewed strength and vigor can be imparted to the nerves must reach them through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a nerving tonic, but they act on the nerves through the blood, enabling the blood to carry to the nerves the elements needed to build them up.

Neuralgia, sciatica, sick headache and the nervous troubles of women are promptly treated by building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are often entirely arrested in this way.

If you are nervous you can help yourself by refusing to worry, by taking proper rest, diet and ventilation, by avoiding excesses and by taking cut-of-door exercise. For medicine take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the non-alcoholic tonic.

Sufferers from nervous disorders who have been taking treatment without benefit should investigate the tonic method. Write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." It will be sent free on request.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.—Advertisement.

ROSLINDALE PEOPLE OPPOSE A LICENSE

Organizations Putting Up a Strong Fight

Residential District and Has No Need of Saloon, They Claim

Nearly every social and civic organization of Roslindale has placed itself on record as being opposed to the granting of a fourth class license to sell bottled liquor goods applied for by J. Putterman, who conducts a store at 4 Cummins sq. In the letters that have been pouring into the office of the Boston Excise Commissioners it is pointed out that Roslindale is a residential district and should be kept free from liquor saloons or bottle stores. Petitions circulated by the Protestant citizens opposing the license are on file with the Excise Board.

The Roslindale Civic Association, the Roslindale Community Club, composed of the prominent business men of the district, and active interest in the fight against the license. While it is true that the hearing will not be held before November for the first time in five years the opponents to the proposition are confident that they will win the fight. January Fifth precincts, where there are now liquor stores.

Mayor Peter W. Jones of the Roslindale district, who is also actively interested in the fight, said: "It is only good, opposed to the granting of this license for this is a residential district and there is no need for any liquor stores. Many persons who use liquor prefer to have a downtown grocer deliver it to their homes, and there is no active interest in the fight against the license. While it is true that the hearing will not be held before November for the first time in five years the opponents to the proposition are confident that they will win the fight. January Fifth precincts, where there are now liquor stores.

Rev. Charles W. Casson of the Roslindale Methodist Episcopal Church, Leonard Cassell of Chelsea and Michael Cassidy of Fort st, Charlestown, came to court today to testify in the case of the man charged with the same two cases of Miss Miriam Mcdaniel, who arrested, also charged with the theft of the clothing.
